New President of B. C.

Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., succeeded Rev. William L. Keleher, S.J., as president of Boston College this summer.

His record is one of an able administrator which started in 1935 when he succeeded the late Father McHugh as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences here at the Heights. He served in this capacity until 1939 when he was appointed President of Holy Cross College, remaining there until 1945. In that year he received another executive appointment becoming rector of Cranwell Preparatory School in Lenox. He came to B. C. from Cranwell.

Father Maxwell was born in Taunton, November 1, 1899. Educated at Holy Cross with the Class of 1921 he entered the Society of Jesus at Yonkers, New York, in 1919. He was ordained at Weston in 1932.

The new president is a Doctor of Philosophy (Fordham, 1930) and has received an honorary Doctor of Laws from St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia. He also studied in Belgium previous to coming to B. C. in 1935.

While Dean of the College Father Maxwell realized the need of preparing students for business careers. It was he who founded the College of Business Administration in 1938.

New Deans

Rev. Francis O. Corcoran, S.J., has been appointed Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences from Weston College where he had been Dean of the School of Theology.

Father Corcoran replaces Rev. Ernest B. Foley, S.J., who has joined the faculty at Holy Cross in the department of Economics.

REV. FRANCIS O. CORCORAN, S.J.

Rev. Edmund D. Walsh, S.J., is the new dean of Freshman and Sophomores. He was formerly dean at Fairfield University, Fairfield, Conn.

He succeeds Rev. John P. Foley, S.J., newly appointed Principal of Boston College High School.

FACULTY CHANGES

Joining the Department of Philosophy are: Revs. Joseph P. Kelly, S. J., Edward J. Duff, S.J., John P. Rock, S. J., Daniel F. Ryan, S.J., Francis J. Toolin, S.J., and Stephen Shea, S.J.; History, Rev. Francis J. Donoghue, S.J.; Economics, Revs. James T. Creamer, S.J., and James L. Duffy, S.J.; Romance Languages, Rev. Walter C. Jaskiewicz, S.J.; Classics, Revs. Joseph M. Marique, S. J., and Joseph E. McGrady, S.J.; Theology, Rev. William J. Read, S.J.

REV. EDMUND WALSH, S.J.

Rev. Bernard R. Boylan, S.J., has been assigned to Holy Cross College as Administrator.

Rev. Edward S. Stanton, S.J., will teach Theology there.

Rev. Wilfred T. Bouvier, S.J., has gone to Fairfield University Prep School in Connecticut.

RECEPTION TO FATHER MAXWELL

A major event on the social program of the Alumni Association this year will be a reception to the new president of B. C., Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., on November 12 at the Copley Plaza, Boston.

Alumni president Walter J. Waldron, '27, has appointed State Treasurer John E. Hurley, '30, as chairman.

Alumni will receive complete details later.

New Officers Elected

Walter J. Waldron, '27

Alumni President

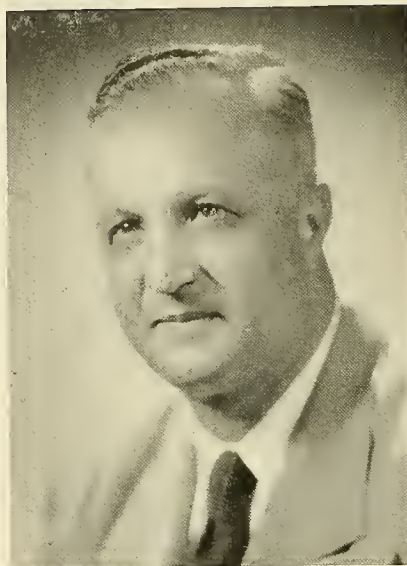

Walter J. Waldron, '27, Milton, was elected president last June of the Alumni Association. He is president of Simco Trading Company, Dorchester, and is chairman of the trustees of the M. T. A.

Elected vice-presidents were Henry M. Leen, '29, Dorchester, lawyer, and Leo C. Donahue, '29, assistant superintendent of schools, Somerville. John Griffin, '35, Winchester, was elected treasurer; Robert J. Glennon, '34, Watertown, secretary.

Newly elected directors are Edward A. Sullivan, '14, and Louis F. Musco, '34.

In accordance with the new amendment to the constitution providing for the appointment of two directors by the president on a geographical basis, the two directors for the coming year are George K. Hendrick, '16, Chicago, and Christopher T. Garrahan, '19, Framingham.

Anthony J. DiNatale, '38, former football captain, was elected to the Graduate Athletic Board. Re-elected to the same board was William H. Sullivan, Jr., '37, director of public relations for the Boston Braves.

LOUIS F. MUSCO, '34

ALUMNI MEDAL

In June on Alumni Day the William V. McKenney Medal (Alumni Medal) was presented to Louis F. Musco, '34, West Roxbury. He was selected from 12,000 for this award because of the extraordinary Communion Breakfast he conducted the past winter. The citation said in part:

"In February a memorable event took place when 1,000 Alumni of Boston College gathered at the Cathedral in Boston to receive Holy Communion and to hear our fellow Alumnus, Bishop MacKenzie. In an unusual demonstration of Faith these Alumni walked through the streets of Boston to the Copley Plaza for breakfast and to listen to another Alumnus, Bishop Wright. The whole program was conceived, planned and carried to completion by the winner of the Alumni Medal. The unusual number of compliments after the event reflected the spontaneous approval by the Alumni of him."

Lou is the president of Aviation Training Schools and president of The Job Finder and Bureau of Counseling. Last year he served as president of the Varsity Club.

Alumni Hall Program

Special Attractions For

Wednesdays and Saturdays

After a summer of preparation the committee in charge of activities has planned a program for the coming year for Alumni Hall which will attract a large number of Alumni.

All class functions will take place at the Hall and class officers are already planning these activities.

At the present time the Hall is open two evenings every week for the general Alumni. The "Saturday Night Club" is already in operation. The entire facilities of the Hall are available for the Alumni and their guests. Dinner is being served from 6 to 9 P.M. The menu includes full course dinners with a reasonable price range from $1.75 to $2.50. At 9 o'clock there is dancing until midnight. As the popularity of the Saturday Night Club increases, it is probable that those attending will have to make advance reservations. Definite advance reservations must be made the evening of the Holy Cross game. John Campbell, '45, is chairman of the Saturday evening gatherings.

Lieut. Commander Joseph V. Wilson, USNR, '32. Received a Presidential recommendation for helping plan and execute amphibious operations at Hungnam, Korea, from December 10-24, 1950.

John Brennan, '33, is chairman of Wednesday evening functions or "Sports Nights" for men only. These attractions will be sponsored by the Varsity Club. On every Wednesday evening from Sept 26 on dinner will be served, starting at 5.30 and continuing to 8.30. The price range for dinners is the same as on Saturdays. There will be a "sports special", broiled sirloin steak at $1.90. A sports program will start at 8.30 featuring known sports personalities and speakers. During the football season Coach Mike Holovak has generously offered to present a commentary on the film of the previous week's game.

Lack of inexperience in operating a club has been overcome by the enthusiastic work of the house committee under the chairmanship of Elmer Ross, '41. Serving on this committee are: John Brennan, '33, Thomas Bresnahan, '19, John Campbell, '45, Joseph Comerford, '45, John Convery, '30, Edward Cooley, '32, Charles Coyle, '21, William Cunningham, '26, John Dacey, '35, Eugene Donaldson, '35, John Griffin, '35, Edward Gallagher, '32, Kevin Hern, '31, William Joy, '40, Rev. Joseph Maguire, '41, Jeremiah Mahoney, '21, Paul Markey, '29, William Melville, '48, Robert O'Doherty, M. D., '26, and Joseph E. Ingoldsby, '27.

FATHER KELEHER LEAVES B. C.

Rev. William L. Keleher, S.J., who was president of B. C. from August, 1945, until July, 1951, has been assigned to the faculty of Holy Cross College in the Department of Philosophy.

In retrospect his record as a post war president is impressive. The enrollment increased from 500 to 4500 in 1948. In order to give every possible veteran an education he erected the temporary buildings behind the Tower Building. For the first time student dormitories existed on the campus.

Permanent monuments to his administration are new buildings, the College of Business Administration, the power plant, Alumni Hall and the newly completed Philosophy Building. In addition, he purchased the building at 126 Newbury Street, Boston, containing B. C. Intown, The School of Nursing and the School of Social Work.

Father Keleher also provided increased salaries for the lay faculty as well as a retirement plan and tenure of office.

He is the founder of The School of Nursing.

The wisdom of his administrative policies will have a progressive influence on the College for many years to come.

BISHOP FEENEY CONSECRATED

Most Rev. Thomas J. Feeney, S.J., was consecrated Titular Bishop of Agno and Vicar Apostolic of the Caroline and Marshall Islands at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross on September 8. Archbishop Cushing, '17, was consecrator, assisted by Most Rev. John J. McEleney, S. J., '18, Bishop of Jamaica, and Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen of New York.

In addition to Archbishop Cushing and Bishop McEleney, other B. C. bishops present were most Rev. Eric F. MacKenzie, '14, Boston, and Most Rev. Edward F. Ryan, '01, Burlington, Vt.

Bishop Feeney is a member of the Class of 1916 which now has two bishops. The other one is Most Rev. Edward C. Daly, O. P., Bishop of Guessing contest. Alumni are asked to identify these members of the Class of 1895 and inform the Alumni office.

A Message From Father Rector

By Very Rev.

Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S. J.

As we begin the 88th year of the College, our 38th at the Heights, it is with a feeling of awe and sincere gratitude for the splendid accomplishments of those years. The College has grown tremendously in size and prestige during this time. Our alumni literally circle the globe and they carry with them the name and the fame of their Alma Mater. Nor does the distance of time or space separate them from their college. They are as much a part of it today as are the students whom we have greeted at this year's opening.

Returning to Boston College after an absence of twelve years, I am more than astounded at the rapid and solid development of the school over that brief period. To Fathers William J. Murphy and William L. Keleher we all owe a debt of sincere gratitude. The results of their careful and wise administration are evident on all sides. In spite of the very rapid expansion that has taken place, there has been a wholesome control of all phases of our school life. The buildings that have been added to our campus are certainly a credit to the school and to the alumni. To all of you and to our many good friends who have assisted in the erection of these buildings we say a sincere word of thanks.

Twelve years ago the College of Business Administration had an enrollment of less than 100 students; today its student body almost equals that of the College of Arts and Sciences in 1939, and the enrollment of the latter has almost doubled over these few years.

In September 1952, we shall inaugurate a School of Education, as a distinct academic unit on our campus. In this school both men and women will be prepared as teachers for all grades from one through twelve. The establishment of this school will answer the need for the training of more teachers, particularly at the elementary and grammar school levels.

The new Philosophy Hall is completed. It is a splendid building in every way. Classes were held in it on September 17, the day of the fall opening. It is a glorious addition to our campus. Among its many fine features is a cafeteria with facilities for 900 diners. The kitchen, bakery and dishwashing departments are fully equipped with the latest appliances. This building is the correct answer to a long felt need.

It is a pleasure to return again to the College and to find it in such a magnificent condition. I look forward to meeting again the members, of the Alumni body, to renew old friendships and to make new ones. I know that I can count on the continued interest and support of all in the many activities of your College.

Des Moines, Iowa.

Bishop Feeney's See is situated northeast of New Guinea and East of the Philippines.

ALUMNI HONORED

On September 15 at St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, 200 men and women were received as Knights and Dames into the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre. Cardinal Spellman officiated and Archbishop Cushing preached the sermon.

Among those receiving the Papal honor are: Henry M. Leen, '29, James J. Cotter, '11, Anthony Julian, '25, and John J. Drummey, Law '36, a member of the College of Business Administration faculty.

The Knights of the Holy Sepulchre is a Pontifical Order which can be traced back to the defence of Jerusalem in the time of the crusades.

MADE AMBASSADOR

Edward L. Roddan was appointed ambassador to Uruguay this month by President Truman, the first Boston College alumnus to receive such an honor.

After graduation with the Class of 1920 he became a reporter on the Boston Post, later becoming associated with the Universal News Service in Washington, D. C. From 1936-41 he served as publicity director for the Democratic National Committee. A veteran of the last war he did publicity work from 1946 - 48 for the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. From 1948 - 51 he became administrative assistant to Senator Brian McMahon of Connecticut.

The Philosophy Building is the newest structure on the campus. Just completed, it was open in time for class this month.

A Call To Failure

An address to the Members of the Class of 1951 at their Communion Breakfast in June by Charles W. O'Brien, '33

I have always believed that after-breakfast speaking is a peculiarly sadistic form of cruel and unusual punishment plainly falling under the condemnation of the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. More years ago than I care to remember I sat where you now sit and listened with the slightly bored, tolerant condescension characteristic of a college senior—of my generation, that is — to one who to my youthful eyes seemed—and I say it with all charity—like something dredged up out of the depths of an antediluvian society and wondered what on earth he could tell me that I needed to know that I did not already know. The passage of time and my transmigration from that side of the head table to this has not materially altered my viewpoint.

In all seriousness it is not you who should look to me for counsel or guidance or advice; rather it is I who should return for renewal and fresh inspiration to this college of ours and to you who are her latest sons. It is I who have become so entangled amid the trees as to have lost sight of the forest. It is you who see life clearly and see it whole with the true and undistorted perspective which is the end result of your four years at University Heights. With you—now—first things come first. Ends and means fall into their proper sequence. A hierarchy of values is so firmly implanted in your minds and hearts as to have become second nature in both thought and action. Religion, philosophy, the arts, the sciences have gone into your moulding. You will never again be closer to the wellsprings of clear thinking and right acting than you are today. And so it is in no sense of false humility or obsequious Uriah Heep-ism that I say that it is I who come to learn—or re-learn—from you the things that really count.

The world needs you. The world needs the things that you have acquired here, that you have come to stand for, that you are. It needs the clear, white light of your intellectual vision to penetrate the gray, amorphous confusion of muddle-headedness, illogicality, half-truths and illusion that enshrouds the minds of men and to spotlight in sharp, distinct outlines of black and white the very real boundaries of truth and error. It needs the rugged strength of your moral code of living to shore up the decaying foundations of a society which has not only become physically and morally soft but has even begun to lose its grip on a moral sense, to despair of the distinction between right and wrong. It needs most of all the youth and vigor and vitality of your enthusiasm to energize the appalling apathy by which both straight thinking and right acting are being stifled.

Let me give you several examples. For some time now this nation has been Communist conscious, just as less than a decade ago it was Nazi conscious. Communism has been denounced as a brutal totalitarianism, a foreign ideology, a menace to freedom everywhere. It has been depicted as an insidious, worldwide conspiracy seeking by force and fraud to achieve its aim of universal conquest — an Oriental despotism moving steadily toward its goal of undermining and engulfing Western civilization—a thing totally alien in every aspect to the concepts of freedom and democracy which are the warp and woof of Christianity and its culture. Press and radio, pulpit and public platform, all the media of expression have been marshalled in an organized campaign to awaken America to the danger at its doors. And they are right—as far as they go. That is just the trouble. They do not go far enough. They have left the job half done. It is not what they say but what they do not say that marks their signal failure to come to grips with the real problem.

The real menace to the American way of life is not the external threat of Communism but the corrosive influence of secularism which has already made tremendous inroads into every phase of our national existence. Business and government, labor and education, religion, the arts, the sciences, all have felt its insidious impact. None has escaped. Consciously or unconsciously it is being preached in our churches and taught in our universities, and, most terrible of all apotheosized in the lives of our people. Yet basically, philosophically, communism and secularism are one. They are both predicated on the same identical premise — the materialistic concept of life. They are one in their materialism, one in their pragmatism, one in their atheism. It is long past time that the American people faced that fact and its hideous implications. If man is all animal, if there is nothing but matter, if his only motivation is economic, if there is no immortal soul, no eternal destiny, no absolute, no God, then Hitler was right, and Stalin is right, and they differ from the modern American secularists only in being more logical in following a false philosophy to its ultimate, chaotic conclusion. In short, we are nourishing within our breast the very viper whose head we seek to crush in far corners of the globe. That is something that badly needs to be said, and it is men such as you who are alone equipped to say it.

A few months ago a considerable stir was caused by an invitation extended to a leading member of the National Lawyers Guild—an organization which was suspected of at least having slightly leftist tendencies, if not being actually a subversive or Communist front group—to address a segment of the student body within the halls of a local university. An immediate storm of protest blew up, followed by an equally vehement defense of the university's action or inaction. The controversy was commented on editorially in the local press. All the changes were rung on the shopworn shibboleths of freedom of speech and academic freedom. Of course, freedom of speech was not at all involved.

Not even the protestors questioned the gentleman's right to be heard, whatever his opinion or cast of thought. The immediate issue was whether the university should give the tacit approval of a hearing within its official precincts to the person of the speaker, the principles of the organization which he represented and the views which he proposed to expound.

In any event the permission was granted—or rather not withdrawn—and the speaker appeared as scheduled. But the significant and serious question is whether the full implications of the controversy were appreciated even by the participants. What does academic freedom mean? What is the right and responsibility of an educational institution with respect to the principles which are enunciated in its classrooms? More basically, what is the fundamental aim of education? Is it, as it has been so glibly and widely defined in the higher echelons of American learning, the pursuit of truth, something in the nature of an intellectual fox hunt in which the objective is the chase and the quarry merely incidental? Even there the simile is inexact because a fox hunt at least presupposes a fox. What is the presupposition of American secular education? Is it not that objective truth does not exist or is unattainable? With that postulate academic freedom becomes a slogan of sound and fury signifying nothing. If truth and error are interchangeable, if the standard is what meets the needs of a particular society at a particular place and in a particular moment of history and may change with time and locality, if there are no absolutes, then our vaunted Western culture is but a windy suspiration, li-deep and rootless. The fact is that a man is no more free to teach error than he is free to do wrong. And that is something that badly needs to be said. And it is men such as you who are alone equipped to say it.

Although it needs you, the world will have none of you. The world will not accept you; it will reject you; it will resist you with every device that it can conjure up. It will meet you with hatred, with contempt, with scorn, with contumely, with ridicule and, most deadly of all devices, with a tremendous indifference, a cold, sodden mass of apathy which will have to be blasted into animation by the detonator of your relentless enthusiasm—which is another word for love. You have a far more authoritative assurance of that destiny than any words of mine. You have the Divine assurance: "If the world hates you, be sure that it hated Me before it learned to hate you. If you belonged to the world, the world would know you for its own and love you; it is because you do not belong to the world, because I have singled you out from the midst of the world, that the world hates you. Do not forget what I said to you. No servant can be greater than his master. They will persecute you just as they have persecuted Me; they will pay the same attention to your words as to Mine. And they will treat you thus because you hear My name."

Have no illusions about what life holds in store for you if you truly bear the name of Christian and the standard of Christ. The world will hate you because your lives will hold the mirror up to its spiritual deficiencies, its intellectual errors and its moral decay. It will despise you because you wear the motley with which it decked Him two centuries ago. It will laugh at you as impractical visionaries and dreamers following an impossible ideal. And it will strive desperately to ignore your efforts to rekindle the fire which He came to cast upon the earth. You will win no spurious headlines hailing you as a success as the world measures success. But do not let that discourage or deter you. Never forget that the only complete success story that this world has known was written in blood by a Man on a cross. One of the great retreat masters of this generation has struck off the true meaning of success very simply but eloquently in his concise summary of the familiar parable of Dives and Lazarus: "Dives died and went to hell; he's been there ever since; he's there today; he'll be there forever. Lazarus died and went to heaven; he's been there ever since; he's there today; he'll be there forever." What is success? You know the answer to that question because you have learned it here.

Commencement time is a season for wishing success to the graduate and unfortunately for telling him ad infinitum and ad nauseam how to achieve it. I pray thee hold me excused from such a chore. I do not recommend that you carry always with you a pocket copy of "How To Win Friends and Influence People"—which, incidentally, is not a modern paraphrase of the second great commandment of love of neighbor. Rather I would urge you to eschew success, for it is the failures of history who have remade the world. Even the pagan Homer had a flash of intuitive insight in this regard, for it is Hector dragged in the dust three times about the walls of Troy behind the chariot of the victor Achilles who has come down to us as the hero of the Iliad. The Christian vocation is a call to failure, to the imitation of the glorious failure and folly of Christ, whose words still ring down the corridors of time: "Have courage! I have overcome the world!" G. K. Chesterton has caught the spirit of that vocation in imperishable poetry in three stanzas of his epic masterpiece "The Ballad of the White Horse." At one stage of the poem the fortunes of the English are at their lowest ebb in the battle to stem the invasion of the Danish hordes and in his desperate plight King Alfred turns in prayer to Mary and asks her for a sign of ultimate victory. In her reply she says in part:

"But you and all the kind of Christ
Are ignorant and brave,
And you have wars you hardly win
And souls you hardly save.

"I tell you naught for your comfort,
Yea, naught for your desire,
Save that the sky grows darker yet
And the sea rises higher.

"Night shall be thrice night over you,
And heaven and iron cope.
Do you have joy without a cause,
Yea, faith without a hope?"

I have not intended to preach a sermon or to indulge in an exercise in oratory. I hope that I have done neither. I have tried to tell you plainly and matter-of-factly why you must hold fast to the ideals which you have learned under "the towers on the Heights." That message can be summed up simply, without rhetoric and very sincerely in three short sentences. There is only one call: "Come, follow Me." You are Christ's men. Walk worthy of your calling.

Graduate Coaching Staff For The Eagles

By Charles J. Harvey, '49

Not since 1935 has the Boston College gridiron strategy been plotted by a graduate coaching staff. Nine years of Alumni coaching had produced a pleasing total of 55 victories, 23 losses and three ties.

The names of McGuirk, Creedon, Weston, Kilroy, Downes, Dixon, Murphy and Colbert were being written as Eagle stars in the early years of the new coaching regimes. To these were added, Gallagher, Buckley, Morrelli, Chesnulevich, Musco, Freitas, Killelea, Tosi, Ferdenzi, Shannon, Furbush and Couhig.

An Eastern Championship team was patterned during this era. The changes were made in coaching and still the Eagles' fame grew. Today we welcome another new era.

Michael Holovak, one of the finest football names in the history of Boston College, is at the Eagles' helm. New names are on the rosters and fame is in the future for many.

Holovak, as an undergraduate, thrilled thousands with his powerful and skillful running in B. C. backfields. Before realizing three successful seasons as a professional star, Holovak felt the pangs of war as he served honorably with a PT Boat Unit in the Pacific.

Two undefeated seasons as mentor of the Eagle frosh paved Mike's way into the head coach's berth at the Heights. From the day of his appointment until the current hour, Holovak has been planning the Eagle's gridiron comeback.

He has sized up the strength of his veteran material, including those of the 1950 freshman team, and worried over the success of his first varsity eleven. He sought out and won the faith of many of New England's finest high school stars of 1950. Today, B. C. has one of the finest groups of freshmen known for possibly a decade.

New names that will be coming into the varsity lights and should be sticking in the minds of the fans are such sophomore luminaries as Dick Zotti, a halfback from Providence, R. I.; Joe Johnson, a halfback from New Haven, Ct.; Danny Broznanahan, a halfback from Dorchester, Mass.; guards Jack Parker from Brockton and Lou Florio from Dorchester.

Of the glistening new frosh are: South Boston's famed Tommy Joe Sullivan, a brilliant halfback who thrilled the fans of South Boston High a year ago; Jimmy Kane, who did the same for a winning Weymouth High eleven; little Richie Nicolo, a fine high school quarterback who is destined to be a terrific college halfback hailing from Saugus.

There are many more names on this new B. C. roster that will become favorites to Eagle fans and it is assured that Mike Holovak is the one who will develop these men of B. C. into a winning Eagle football team.

Coach Holovak, with his staff of Gil Bouley, '44, line coach; Bill Flynn, '38, end coach and Steve Stuka, '50, backfield coach, has had the Eagle squad working steadily since August 27. A number of changes have been made, in the order of boys going to different positions and designations as to offense and defense. Each move has seemed to strengthen the squad effectively.

Marked progress has shown through the brief period of drills and a potential trouble maker is in the making, in this 1951 B. C. team. A colorful offense is anticipated and only the construction of a positive defense is lacking. Yet even here, encouragement is felt with each session on Alumni Field.

Coach Holovak has a difficult task in bringing up a squad that has been tabbed as the remnants of a winless outfit. His work can be eased through the support of his own Alumni.

VARSITY CLUB

The following officers of the Varsity Club were elected in June: Hon. John J. Connelly, '30, presiding justice, Boston Juvenile Court, president; P. Joseph Killelea, '34, vice president; John J. Mahoney, '29, treasurer; John J. Brennan, '33, secretary; Tony Comerford, '23, Tom Gemelli, '28, Jim Heggie, '32, John Convery, '30, Lou Musco, '34, directors.

Judge Connelly has announced plans for meetings every month. Club members will be notified of the complete program later. In October a family field day will be held.

In recent months there has been a large increase in active membership due to the efforts of the chairman of the membership committee, Joe Ingoldsby, '27.

Some of the active members heard from recently from distant points are: Howard A. Mandeville, '26, Seattle, Washington; Comdr. Ed Sliney, '30, Denver, Colorado; Major Edward G. Halligan, '34, USA, Canal Zone; Raymond G. Coyne, '39, Parris Island, S. C.; Ben Hines, '37, Los Angeles, California; Major Ralph Dougherty, USAF, '40, Fort Slocum, N. Y.; Frank J. Facey, '18, Washington, D. C.; William R. Drugan, '22, Norwood, R. I.; William J. McCarthy, '50, Lewes, Delaware; Charles L. Cote, '19, Pearl River, N. Y.; Lt. Francis X. 1914

JOHN S. KEOHANE

1147 Tremont Street, Boston 20

Due to ill health Father Pat Dawson of Nantasket has resigned his parish. With the responsibilities of his parish duties eliminated he can look forward to a continued improvement in his health.

Father Fred Deasy, the peregrinating pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield, has recently returned from the Spanish Pilgrimage.

Father Tom Heagney of Lynn having enjoyed his stay in Ireland during the month of June returned filled with the spirit of his ancestors.

Very Rev. Father Edward (Leo) Hughes, O. P., of the Chicago Province, has returned from a successful trip to Africa where he went to establish Dominican missions.

We are pleased to hear that Bishop MacKenzie's mother is rapidly recovering from the effects of a serious fall.

Fred Doyle's son Richard transferred from Georgetown to the Heights where we hope that he will be available for football in another year.

Jim Dunbar's son Paul received his degree at the Heights in June.

Felicitations and best wishes to: Tom O'Hare whose marriage to Deborah Leavitt Kimball on June 8 was solemnized by Bishop MacKenzie.

Edward A. Sullivan, President of Salem State Teachers College, whose marriage to Margaret Comerford King on June 28 was solemnized by Archbishop Cushing.

The Varsity Club honored itself by conferring an honorary membership on our esteemed classmate Jack Kapples (M.B.A. Harvard 1916, LL.D. Boston College 1950.)

Former Boston school teacher, Thomas A. Donnelly, is now regional liaison officer in charge of plans and training in the Northeast Regional office of Civil Defense recently located in Natick.

1916

JAMES L. O'BRIEN

41 Pond Circle, Jamaica Plain 30

The Class officers for 1951-1952 are: Patrick J. Donovan, President; Rev. Leo Sullivan, George Daley, Vice Presidents; Dr. Arthur Falvey, Treasurer; James L. O'Brien, Secretary.

On Alumni Day the class added $3,500 to its Scholarship Fund which is now $7,500.

The headlines in the newspapers on graduation day at Harvard were Austin, Wilson and Atkinson awarded honorary degrees. Jack is in good company.

Bill Toomey has been appointed superintendent of Public Works in Arlington. Bill has been assistant superintendent since 1929.

Our classmate, Most Rev. Thomas J. Feeney, S.J., Vicar-Apostolic, Caroline-Marshall Islands was consecrated Bishop on September 8, 1951.

Kindly remember in your prayer Leo Daley's brother John who died this summer. Leo was quite sick this summer but has been recuperating at Harwich and is now much better.

The son of Fred Gillis, Lt. William D. Gillis, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement against the enemy in Korea.

Rev. Leo E. Sullivan is now pastor of Star of the Sea Church, East Boston. He had been pastor of St. Julia's, Weston.

1917

THOMAS D. CRAVEN

42 Mellen Street, Dorchester 24

Fr. Frank Caffrey, M.M., came East in June to attend the ordination into the Maryknoll Order of his nephew and namesake Francis J. Caffrey. While here friends of Maryknoll and personal friends under the leadership of Dr. James J. Lawlor of Cambridge arranged a reception for Frank at the Maryknoll Seminary in Brookline. Invitations were sent out at the suggestion of Frank to all members of 1917 and their families who could be reached. In spite of his absence of 34 years Frank was able to recognize most of the Class who were able to be present. Among those present were: Bill Curley, Fr. John Connelly, Jack Doyle, Fr. Maurice Dullea, Walter Duran, "Porky" Flynn, Frank Heanue, Marty Higgins, Jimma Kelley, Jack McCarty, Ralph Quinn, Les Shea, Dr. Charley Twomey, and your scribe.

Frank Limont informs us that daughter Betty, who attended Georgian Court was married in July at Tona-wanda, N. Y., to John J. Landers. The young couple will live in Tyingham, Mass. Additional from the same family, son Mark (Chubby) will be married late in September to Dorothy R. Vaughn at St. Mary of the Navity, Scituate. That makes the score three gone and one to go in the Limont family. "Chubby" played tackle for Notre Dame a few years back.

M. FRANCIS NOLAN

26A Shepard Street, Cambridge

Several of the Class gathered on Alumni Day in June at the Heights. We started off with luncheon at the Commonwealth Country Club and eventually ended up at Alumni Hall where we planned more frequent and bigger reunions in the future. Answering the roll call on Alumni Day were John Roman, Father Remi Schuver, Frank Crowley, Bill Cashin, Bill Herlihy, Jr., Jack Creed, Dan Harkins, "Connie" Manley, John O'Loughlin, Clarence Pike, John Corcoran and myself.

All were happy to learn of the appointment of John Corcoran as assistant superintendent of schools in Boston. John is married and has six children, one of whom, John, Jr., is a student at St. John's Seminary. Another son, Robert J., graduated from the College this year.

Another prize for Myles Connolly who placed third in the annual short story contest of the Catholic Press Association with "The Letter That Never Was Mailed".

J. ROBERT BRAWLEY

33 Pomfret Street, West Roxbury 32
Rev. Bernard F. Doucette, S. J., is now in charge of the seismographs of Manila Observatory, Mirador, Baguio City in the Philippines. This is the same work that he was engaged in before Pearl Harbor.

The sympathy of the class is extended to Louis Kane and Fred Donaher on the deaths of their sisters, both of whom passed away during the summer.

A great loss to the class took place in the sudden death of our Gerry Kellaher. An able lawyer, a Catholic gentleman and a most faithful member of the Alumni and of 1920, he will be greatly missed. The deepest sympathy of our class is extended to Mrs. Kellaher and the girls.

GORDON F. IRONS

9 Emmonsedale Rd., West Roxbury 32
Monsignor Walter J. Furlong, Chancellor of the Archdiocese, has been named a Protonotary Apostolic. The Holy Father bestowed this honor upon Monsignor Furlong in recognition of the 25th Anniversary of his ordination to the Priesthood.

Rev. James E. Sullivan has been appointed parish priest of St. Mary's, Hull; Rev. John T. Powers, parish priest of St. Agnes', Middleton, is also chaplain of the Sanitarium and prison colony which are about four miles from the rectory.

Dr. John Gallivan of Braintree was appointed associate medical examiner of the fourth Norfolk district by Governor Dever on July 18, 1951.

Tom Foynes recently became a grandfather.

Arthur F. McCarthy has been admitted to the law firm of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius, 123 South Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.

1922

NATHANIEL J. HASENFUS

15 Kirk Street, West Roxbury 32

Frank Daly writes that he has visited Pike's Peak.

My third son Walter graduated from B. C. High School in June and has entered the freshman class at the College; second son Dick has enrolled at Massachusetts School of Art.

John McKearin has moved from his home in Belmont and is now a resident of Kansas City, Missouri, where he is in the utilities field.

Father Walter Hyland, S.J., has a new address at Berchmans College, Lahug Ceba City, P. I.

Father Bill Long is the new pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Hanover.

The sympathy of the class is offered to Father James Doyle on the untimely passing of "Dyker" Doyle whom we all loved and respected.

Charley Tucker has added a T.V. agency to his growing business in Rochester, N. Y. Do you remember Charley's slogan "B. C. for KC and KC for B. C."?

Sympathy is extended to Arthur Morrissey on the untimely passing of his wife, an outstanding lady and a member of the Somerville School Committee.

FRANCIS L. FORD

9 McKone Street, Dorchester 22

Jeannine Edyth Garrity, daughter of our esteemed classmate, T. Edmund Garrity, became the bride of Mr. Richard L. Holoway at St. Joseph's Church, Belmont, Saturday, September 8.

And another of our esteemed classmates, Cecil F. McGoldrick, gave away his daughter, Mary Martha, in marriage to Mr. Charles A. Malloy on Saturday, September 15, at the Church of the Holy Name, West Roxbury.

Kay Comerford, daughter of Tony, was recently appointed a teacher in the Bennett School district in the City of Boston. Annellen Comerford, another of Tony's daughters, has entered Framingham Normal School. Dropped in on Father Norbett McInnis, pastor of St. Helen's Church in Norwell, during the summer, and saw his beautiful church and rectory.

A picture in the "Pilot" of August

11 showed the Loys' choir as the proudest boast of Our Lady of Lourdes Parish in North Carver, where classmate, Father Edmund W. Croke, has recently been appointed pastor.

Our latest concerning Walter Mayo, Jr., son of classmate Walter, head of the Music Department at Boston College, has him still a prisoner of war in Korea. Walter, Jr., had been reported missing in action. However, last March, on short-wave radio, he was reported alive. A letter in mid-August confirmed this report. The Mayos have been summering in Norwell and have been very active in the charitable affairs connected with St. Helen's Church.

The Eire Society has announced the second annual Gerald F. Coughlin Essay Contest. This contest will conclude on January 15, 1952, and concerns itself with any specialized phase of the history of the Irish in Massachusetts before 1800. Our beloved Gerald will always be remembered for his fine work as vice-president of the Eire Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaynor Wellings spent their summer vacation at Nantucket. Mark Croke has been appointed commissioner of the Newton Water Department. He is married and has three children.

Navy Captain Bartholomew W. Hogan has been appointed to the coveted berth of commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland. For the past year he has been head of the U. S. Naval Medical School which operates in the hospital. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

ANTHONY E. LEBLANC

45 Maynard Street, Arlington 74

On Saturday evening, June 2, the class held a dance and buffet supper at Alumni Hall. A committee headed by Walter J. E. Carroll, M.D., made complete arrangements for a very enjoyable and pleasant party for the twenty or more members and their wives. (Now we are able to appreciate and understand how the class gift made on our 25th Anniversary was used wisely.)

A correction, please. In the last issue your correspondent reported that Charlie Sheehan's son was studying for the priesthood with the Columban Fathers in Milton. It is the Capuchin Fathers, Milton.

If by any chance you should be talking to Tom McIntire, don't mention 'Arterial Highway. Because of land takings he is forced to move his business location from 221 High Street, Boston. That's the penalty of progress (or something).

Jim Dooling's oldest son, Paul, is a student at St. Michael's College, Toronto, Canada. His daughter is attending Hunters College, New York. Frank Fennessey is reported as holding an important position with the General Electric in Lynn. He is married and has several children.

Chris Duncan was elected president of the Continental Gynecological Society at a meeting of the Society held on May 11 at Ohio State University Hospital, Columbus, Ohio. A distinct and deserved honor for a very faithful and capable classmate.

William H. Palmer has been appointed manager and sales supervisor of Tide Water Oil Co., in the Revere district. He has held a similar position in Worcester.

Stephen Littleton was married in July to Mary R. Gahan of Newton Centre. John J. Reddy has been appointed general chairman of the 1951 Milton Community Fund drive. He is in the legal department of the New England Tel & Tel., is married and has a son, John, Jr.

EDWARD J. O'LEARY

22 Bailey Road, Arlington 74

It is with deep regret that we must report the passing of two of our beloved classmates, William J. Doyle and Dr. John P. Reardon. Bill, after a brief illness, died on June 26, and Jack two months later on August 27. It was truly inspiring to see the large delegation of sorrowful classmates who attended the final services to pay their respects. To the families of these men who had done so much for their Alma Mater, go the sincere, heartfelt condolences of the entire class of '25.

Fred and Ruth Mahony were the gracious hosts at a garden party at their lovely home on Bristol Road, West Newton, on Sunday, June 10, the day before our annual class day. Classmates, wives and children were entertained at one of the nicest parties imaginable and the more than one hundred guests present were lavish in their praise of the Mahony hospitality.

After the annual BC-BC ball game on Class Day fifty classmates attended a dinner at the Commonwealth Country Club not only to enjoy one of our much-too-infrequent get-togethers but also to share in the great honor which was conferred on classmate Anthony Julian. On June 1, members of the class were thrilled to read in the Boston press that the Holy See through Archbishop Cushing had conferred Papal Knighthood on Anthony in recognition of the outstanding charitable works of the Sons of Italy of which our classmate was Grand Venerable. At the dinner Anthony was presented an inscribed desk set, a gift of the class, by Jack O'Keefe who did the honors. There is little that can be accurately reported on this event because Jack ever the unpredictable made the presentation in Italian. To get into the proper swing of things Anthony gravely responded in the same tongue. Great news appeared in the papers in early September and we were happy to read that Father Joe Regan long a prisoner of the Red Chinese had been released and is now reunited happily with his family in Fairhaven. At the same time we learned that Gene Giroux of your Executive Committee was reappointed to the very important post of Chairman of the Massachusetts Industrial Accident Board by Governor Dever.

Frank McCrehan is seeking re-election to the School Committee in Cambridge.

Editor's Note: Edward J. O'Leary is the newly appointed executive secretary of the Somerville Chamber of Commerce.

WILLIAM J. CUNNINGHAM

46 Tennyson Street, West Roxbury 32

We had a terrific 25th celebration in June; all who took part had a grand time. From our big dinner early in the year through our outing at Manomet, Communion Breakfast at the Heights, luncheon at Alumni Hall the day itself, and the cocktail party at Dr. Bob Doherty's, we have memories we will never forget.

From the outing we'll remember Ed Harrison and his "Hawkins," Johnny Dorsey; the golf matches we so enjoyed at Plymouth; the failure to include fish items on Friday at Manomet; the ukulele session; the poker; Doc Golden's pep pills and the tablets to kill morning after headaches; being moved out of the dining-room by 300 members of Hadassah.

We were certainly saddened by the death of the able Stan Howard, who was with us at the outing. Stan, a veteran of the war in the CBI theatre, with General Stillwell, died after an emergency operation. He had been a Globe writer for many years. Ironically, Stan had just been made a Major, on the day of his death.

At the breakfast we jammed St. Mary's Chapel with the families. It was a thrill to see so many fine looking wives and children, and to have Mass celebrated by Father Tom Quirk, just back from China.

On Alumni Day we had beautiful Alumni Hall to ourselves until ball game time. The Seiler's luncheon was paid for by one of the boys who wishes to remain anonymous.

Costumes were the best any class has ever shown at the Heights. Walt Morris, always thoughtful, arranged for a group photograph on the Tower Building steps. Then the real top off was Bob O'Doherty's party, across from the college. Again Seiler's catering, from crackers to caviar, and the best of liquors.

One of the fellows we were counting on seeing Alumni Day, got a tough break. Frank Russell's kids came down with three cases of mumps. While at Bob O'Doherty's house, another telegram arrived from Jerry O'Connor in Venezuela, regretting his inability to get there in time.

FRANCIS X. SULLIVAN

51 Presentation Road, Brighton 35

The Memorial Mass on May 27 was attended by 34 class members. Rev. Bernard Fickers, S.J., Chairman of the Chemistry Department at Holy Cross College was the celebrant and preacher.

Your correspondent who spent some time at Nahant this summer saw Paul Dalton in church wearing the uniform of a naval Lt. Comdr.

Mike Creed is sales manager for the Mullite Refractories Co., who manufacture "Shamva" Products. He is living at 63 Marvel Road, New Haven, Conn.

Vin Carolan is with UARCO Business Forms and is living at 276 Plain Street, Stoughton.

Howie Buckley spent the summer on the Cape. He is still much the gentleman of leisure.

Jack Buckley was a district chairman for the recent Red Cross drive.

Dan O'Leary has pulled up stakes in Jamaica Plain and settled down with his wife and six children in Lowell near his new "love" the Lowell Teachers College where he is now president.

Jack Costello is still practising law in Medford.

"Tubber" Cronin and his wife accompanied Archbishop Cushing on his pilgrimage to Spain and Portugal. From New Shoreham, R. I., Supt. of Schools, Pierce Fitzgerald wrote sending his regards to the Class.

With the new housing regulations causing such commotion between landlords and tenants, Fred Harkins, area attorney for the Rent Control Board is up to his neck in increases and "beefs."

Tom Keefe announced at the last meeting in May that he was going to be married. By now he either is or is still waiting.

Father Joe McCall is stationed at the Immaculate Conception, Salem.

Ray Finnegan is well and back at work again. Everyone in the Class is pulling and praying for Ray.

Dan O'Connell is back in the service. John J. Thornton is vice president in charge of research and production of Nuvi-T-Min, Inc. His address is P. O. Box 692, Lancaster, Pa.

Paul McCarthy has been appointed Sales and Publicity Director for R. H. White Co., Boston. He is well known in retail circles.

Charles Hayden was the subject of a feature article in a June issue of the Norwood Tribune. He is the popular principal of Norwood High School. Rev. John E. Bowen has been transferred from Malden to St. Mary's parish, Melrose.

The Class is most proud of the new president of the Alumni Association—Walter Waldron.

LLOYD L. DOYLE

279 Bowdoin Street, Dorchester 22

An organization meeting was held Monday evening, September 17th at the Alumni Center in preparation for the 25th anniversary of our graduation.

Bill Dacey is back in town with an investment house, having forsaken Detroit.

Union Carbon and Carbide Company lost one of its uprising executives in Jim Duffy who is now located in Boston with Brine's Sporting Goods Company.

A mid-winter class reunion is being planned, featuring ladies' nite. Please arrange for your baby sitters.

Ken Richards has been transferred to his old Alma Mater—Boston Latin from English High.

Rev. Joseph E. McGoldrick, who has been stationed in California, is now back in this Diocese, attached to the Cathedral Rectory.

We now have an assistant attorney general in the class, Charles Owen Dooley having been appointed recently.

Commissioner John McGillivray cut the ribbon to the approach of the new Long Island Bridge together with His Honor. Quite a land mark to be associated with out in the harbor. That's our boy!

JOHN J. SPENCER

527 Broadway, South Boston 27

The sincere and well merited congratulations of classmates are herewith formally extended to Al Monahan, former Fulton president, on his appointment as City Editor of the Boston Globe. Al, veteran newspaperman, and Boston College correspondent during his days at the Heights, was doubly honored by his promotion in that he was chosen to succeed the able and revered Charles Merrill, one of America's great newspapermen, in the post.

Your correspondent, bowed under the yoke of office as class president (confound you, Harry Kievenaar), served as customary as an Alumni Day Marshal (that being a euphemism for stooge for Jack Hayes).

Joe Birmingham escaped those duties this year, being engaged in the assimilation of entertainment and culture as an attendant at two recitals (by special request of Mrs. Birmingham).

Joe's place as ticket-seller, sign hanger and general factotum was reserved for the class of '29 through the impressment of George Donaldson, who arrived under the mistaken idea that he was going to enjoy a day of reminiscence and recollection. George recovered on a vacation trip that saw him in Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, and Vermont, on which he found time to impress the capabilities of B. C. men and the alertness of the Placement Bureau on many a factory head.

Your correspondent is delighted to announce the arrival in April of a future alumna of the College (new that it is co-ed (in the person of Karen Denise Spencer. (Her proud parents subsequent to the christening, were informed that Karen, for from being the Celtic name they had imagined, is Swedish for Catherine). The roster now reads, Judith Ann; James H.; John W.; Natalie K.; Mary Jane and Karen Denise Spencer.

JOHN F. DWYER

45 Belvoir Road, Milton 86

Congratulations to Irving Stackpole upon his recent election as Judge Advocate, Mass. Dept., Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Charlie Murphy, Comptroller of Customs, Boston District, has been kept busy in recent months handling smuggling violations in his territory.

Jim Lanagan, special justice, sat at Harwich Court on Cape Cod during the past summer.

Father John W. Ryan, S.J., Dean, Boston College Intown, invites any class members interested in taking evening courses to contact him.

During the summer the fathers of two of our classmates passed away. The sincere sympathy of all class members is extended to Father Ed Galvin and Judge John Connelly upon their recent bereavements.

Tom Kelly was recently elected Deputy Grand Knight, Milton Council, K. of C.

Henry Delaney is associated with his brother Jack in the management of the Reservoir Club in Cambridge. Henry invites all class members to visit the Club.

Dan O'Connell is secretary of the Boston Emergency Defense Council. Joseph J. Carroll was married this summer to Nancy B. Kelly, R.N., Pittsfield. Joe is principal of Lenox High School.

Bill Butler of Wakefield is operating the business of Wm. H. Butler & Sons, Undertakers.

Seen during the summer at Marshfield Country Club were John Connelly and Tom Kelly.

Vacationing at Marshfield were John Haverty, John Hurley, Jack Hayes and Tom Kelly; at Scituate were Drs. Tom Cavanaugh and A. Callan; John Connelly and Charlie Murphy. Frank McNulty summered at Megansett in Falmouth. Dr. Bill O'Connor sojourned at Oyster Harbors. Dr. and Mrs. Bill Sullivan enjoyed their vacation at Coonamessett Inn in Hatchville at Falmouth.

1931

RICHARD H. FITZPATRICK

8 Hill St., West Somerville 44

At our twentieth anniversary last June, the men elected Rev. Arthur Norton, St. Brendan's, Dorchester, to the presidency of the class. Father has appointed a committee of about a dozen men to draw up plans for class activities. Tentatively scheduled is a dinner to be held during the coming season. At that time, we hope to be able to present a fairly ambitious program for the future.

About thirty members showed up for our reunion on Alumni Day. Among them we were delighted to see Dr. Fred LaBrecque. Fred traveled from Waterbury, Connecticut, to be with us. Fred is a surgeon there, specializing in obstetrics and gynecology. He has seven children, a record, so far as we know, for the class.

Fathers Maurice Whelton, S.J., Joseph Barrett, S.J. and Joseph McGrady, S.J., are presently teaching at the College where Frank Maynard is also on the faculty. Very Rev. George O. Mason is a Monsignor out in Columbus, Ohio.

Bishop Wright was able to sail on the pilgrimage to Spain during the summer.

An infant girl, Anne Elizabeth, has come to stay at the Dick Fitzpatrick's. This makes six for Dick, three boys and three girls.

Joseph B. Doherty is the superintendent of schools in East Hampton, Connecticut. He is married, has three children, and makes his home in Canton Centre, Conn.

Rev. Daniel J. Lynch, OMI, has been named pastor of the Sacred Heart Church in Brownsville, Texas.

1932

JOHN P. CONNOR

24 Crestwood Circle, Norwood

Our class reunion this year will be held at Alumni Hall sometime in October. Announcements of the date will be mailed later.

Emil Romanowski owns and operates his own woolen mill in Lowell. Speaking of Lowell I understand that our classmates from that city have their own class reunion very frequently.

Tom Connolly is back in Boston again working for McKesson-Robbins covering the City of Cambridge. Tom recently lost his wife who passed away after a comparatively short illness, leaving Tom with a son and a daughter.

Paul McSweeney is head of the Finance Committee of the Crosscup-Pishon Post.

Gerry Hern, Gerry Moore and Dan Harkins are with the Boston Post; John Brooks with the Daily Record; Al O'Shea is an assistant manager for the R.F.C. in the Boston office; Dan Kelliher owns a plumbing supply business in Somerville; Benny Cone is in the Boston office of the Price Stabilization Board.

John Collins is teaching in the Somerville schools along with Barney "Fastball" Curtin who is also coaching baseball at Somerville High.

Sorry to hear that Ed Hurley's father passed away recently.

Al Ricci's picture was in the Boston Herald a short time ago. He was representing the Boston chapter of the Sons of Italy during their annual convention.

Your class correspondent is proud to announce the arrival of his third child born June 5, a son named, Robert Michael.

1933

JAMES M. CONNOLLY

10 Pine Street, Belmont 78

The sympathy of the class is extended to the family of Frank Connor, who died in the Spring. Frank was one of our very loyal members and he will be sadly missed.
